

Why should the FCC have the right to change a law in New Jersey that is working just fine? If I wanted to be tormented by telemarketers, I would not have put my number on the Do Not Call list.